

Dear [insert patient name]

You recently had a positive PCR test for COVID-19 and should now be self-isolating at home. You may be able to take part in an antiviral drug study called PANORAMIC.

PANORAMIC is open to people who are:

Aged 50+ or 18-49 with an underlying health condition and who feel unwell with COVID-19 symptoms that started in the last five days.

We want to test how effective these new treatments are at helping people recover sooner and without needing to be admitted to hospital.

If accepted onto this study, you may be randomly allocated to a group who receives a course of oral antiviral treatments, or a group that doesn't. Both groups are needed so the study team can see any difference in the health of those who received the antiviral treatment compared to those who don't. Participants will also be able to access any other NHS care that they would normally expect to receive.

Information from the study will help with plans to keep more people out of hospital by taking drugs like these at home. See more details on the PANORAMIC study website or call the study team on 08081 560017.

Thank you